Dear Class of 1978:

I extend my congratulations to each of you upon completion of your program at the New Mexico School for the Deaf. I know that it has taken many years of hard work to reach this day. You should be as pleased with your progress as those of us on the staff are.

I have known most of you throughout your entire school career and appreciate very much your effort and your cooperation. This class should provide an example for our younger students to follow. I know if you put forth the same effort in life, you will be just as successful.

Again, I congratulate each of you and my best wishes go with you.

Sincerely,

James A. Little

Your dreams can't come true.
Anyone can move a mountain everyone should know
Just believe it and you'll find it's so.

Anyone can move a mountain if he really tries
Anyone can move a mountain you must realize
If you take a little time
A lot of faith—make up your mind

Salutatory

Debra Haley

This afternoon, it is my pleasure to speak on behalf of the Class of 1978, and welcome all of you to our commencement exercises.

To most people, graduation day is a final day—a finishing up—an end, but those of us who are graduating cannot help but think seriously about what commencement really means. Today is a beginning—a time of independence and a time when we will be taking one of the biggest steps of all of our lives.

Thank you for coming and being with us: because the interest, love and support that your presence displays today will go with us long into the future and will be for us a source of great strength and support.

Valedictory

Mona Faircloth

Like helpness little seedlings, dependent on others for food, light, shelter and care, we came to N.M.S.D. Today we stand before you, hand picked from the patch, waiting to be clipped from our stems.

What happens to a flower after it has burst forth into full bloom? Does it just die? Will no trace of it ever be seen again?

I have compared us, the graduates of N.M.S.D., to flowers, but we're not dead—or are we? As we take this step into our future that Debra mentioned before, do we not leave the past behind? Do we not cease to be little children and enter into the new world of independence, personal responsibility and eventually into adulthood?

As the weather with its elements affects the flower in differing ways, we too will be affected, never knowing where or how our petals will be rustled and where they will fall. The future is not ours to see, but for each of us, it is ours to live. We can be confident that we can have a good future if that is what we want, because we have been properly cared for in the past.

With a feeling of hope, I wish to thank all of you who helped supply the nourishment that was needed for us to graduate from N.M.S.D. Thank you all for you kindnesses and your caring.

Till we meet again, Adios!
